This high energy musical, set in ancient Rome (togas!), is overflowing with comic devices – jokes, puns, stand-up, tongue twisters, double-entendre, absurdity, disguise, mistaken identity and slapstick. In a desperate attempt to win his freedom, a slave tries to help his young master win the love of a virgin courtesan while outsmarting the boy's parents, the slave master and a soldier. Meanwhile, an old man searches for his lost children, a nervous slave cross-dresses to avert trouble and a domineering wife suspects her husband of infidelity.

Rehearsals will run Monday through Friday from 6:30pm–9:30pm beginning Friday, February 17th. Performances are May 12, 13, 14, 19, 20, 21, 2006.
